History of Requirement Updates for Animal Product Exports

Last Modified:

This webpage serves as a resource for you to find and view updates to animal product export requirements posted to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA's) Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) International Regulations for Animal Product Exports web pages. The information presented here is organized by date, country of destination, topic, and description.

For countries not listed, the requirements are not known. However, exporters wanting to ship animal products should have the interested party (importer/buyer) in the destination country contact the appropriate ministry for the specific requirements.
