What is Regulations.gov?

Regulations.gov is your source for information on the development of Federal regulations and other related documents issued by the U.S. government. Regulations.gov is mainly used by members of the general public to share their knowledge and opinions on proposed rules and notices before they are finalized. Through this site, you can find, read, and comment on regulatory issues that are important to you.

How do I search for a Federal Register Notice (FRN) on Regulations.gov?

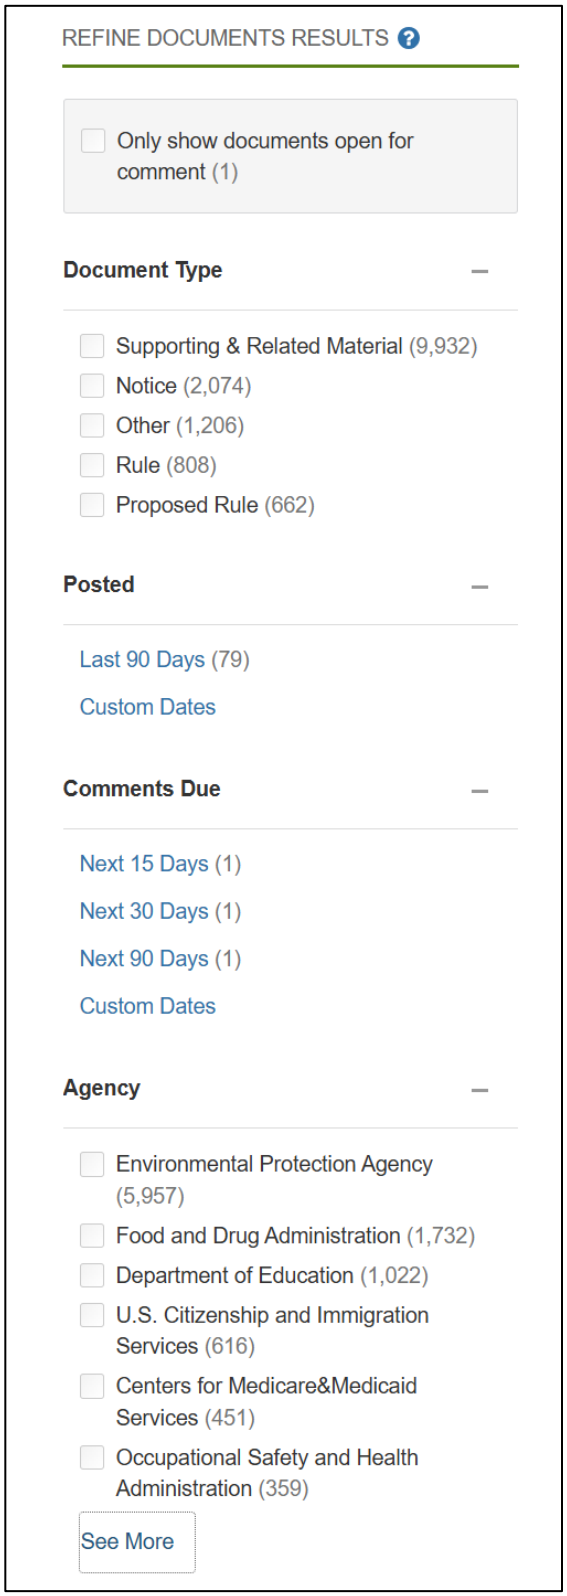

On the Regulations.gov site, members of the public can search for a regulation such as a Proposed Rule, a Final Rule, or an FRN (ex. Program Announcements or Proposed Collections/60-day FRNs) and submit comments.

To search for the FRN that you wish to comment on, enter either the Docket number (ex. USBC-2025-0001) that is included in the FRN or the title of the FRN in the search bar:

*Use quotation marks to search for an exact phrase (ex. “American Community Survey”).

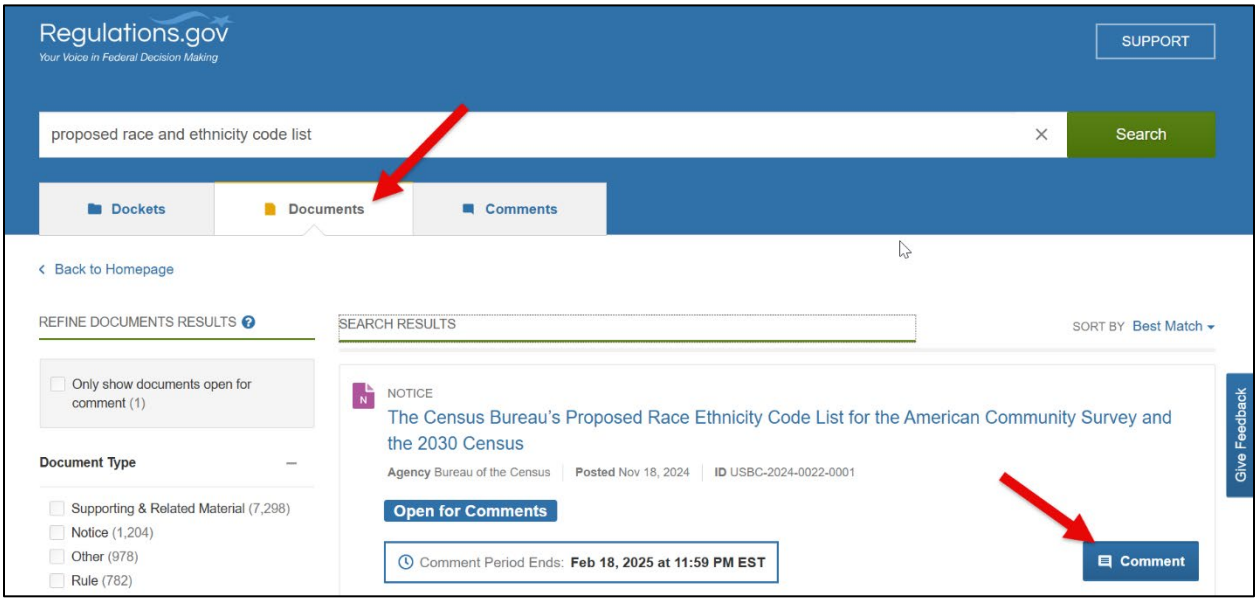

To refine your search results, use one or more of the filters displayed on the left-hand side of the screen (see image below):

How do I submit a comment on Regulations.gov?

The "Comment" Button can be found in the following locations:

- "Documents" Tab (see red arrows in image below):

- Or you can click on the title of the notice and select the "Comment" button on the "Document Details" Tab (see red arrows in the image below):

Selecting the “Comment” Button on any of the above pages will display the Comment Form (see image of the “Comment Form” below).

The "Comment Form" is where you can:

1) Enter your comment/feedback
2) Attach files (a maximum of 20 files of up to 10MB each)
3) Choose whether to identify yourself as an individual, an organization, or as anonymous.

Be sure to complete all of the required fields, which are indicated by a red asterisk (*).

Please note that information entered on the Comment Form may be viewable publicly on Regulations.gov.

Once you have completed all required fields and chosen an identity, the "Submit Comment" button will be enabled.

Upon completion of the "Comment Form," you will receive a Comment Tracking Number for your Comment (see red arrow in image below).

The “Comment Due Date” on Regulations.gov is based on Eastern Time (ET). For example, if the Comment Due Date is 02/18/2025, you have until 02/18/2025 at 11:59 PM ET to submit your comment on Regulations.gov.

Some agencies also accept Comments by mail, fax, or email. To find out if you can use one of these alternate methods, visit the Document's section labeled "Addresses."*

For additional information, please refer to the Regulations.gov FAQ's.